

Andy Asks, "Where Is Your Home?"

Andy asks a little panda at the zoo, "Where did you come from? Where is your home?"

If the panda could talk he may say,
"My home is far away in China.

It is in the mountains in a bamboo forest. I eat bamboo leaves. Do you eat leaves?"

Andy asks a camel at the zoo, "Where did you come from? Where is your home?" If the camel could talk she may say, "My home is far away in Africa.

It is in the sandy desert. If you would like to go for a ride, I will sit down and you can climb up on my back."

Can you find another animal's home far away?
